New Left Review (on EU and Greece)
By Perry Anderson

Part I – The Originals

I. Graeco-Roman history and European History

The process of Graeco-Roman Bibles by Sirohi, then articulate a complex history of housing, merchant capital and even the Mediterranean and its importance in shipping trade and this then creates the modern comparison of advanced capitalism in Spain, France and Greece even Italy and such countries which then is led by EU which is based on the idea of trade and what is called EU deals, which are made with Greek Syriza which is about a financial trade.

II. EU the Institution and Hegelian Presentation of Hegelesia

In fact then the history of EU is about a set of deals she makes with Greece and other countries which then is also an institutional architecture which is about the EU being at the present a institution with a Hegelesia prestigious institution. It means then that from time to time she organises a EU deal, and is busy trading with American Hegemon and World Bank, IMF which is just as it were financial transactions which then is EU dynamics because of its complex history of trade in Greek history.

Part II – The Regime of Accumulation

I. The Formulation of Regimes of Accumulation – why EU and World Bank, IMF are only laws and economics in a regime of accumulation

What it then means is a accumulation regime which is just the correct world of laws and economic policies which constitute a World Bank, IMF and EU regime of accumulation which has a world of offices and financial transactions as simple as a line or a lignes de fluit.
